Wippie | Tech Talent and Purpose-Driven Data Solutions

At Wippie, we connect top-tier scientific and IT talent with projects that generate positive scientific, social, and environmental impact. We work with organizations seeking to go beyond software and create impactful solutions.

Our services include:

◆ Dedicated Scientific and IT Talent

We build and manage high-performance teams of scientific and technology professionals, tailored to the needs of your project, from individual experts to full agile teams. Ideal for companies, research centers, and public sector organizations seeking flexible collaboration aligned with their mission.

◆ Custom Software Development and Data Analytics

We design and develop data-driven digital products, platforms, and tools to generate value and accelerate decision-making. Our teams work with modern stacks, agile methods, and scientific rigor.

◆ Scientific and Biotechnology Data Engineering

We support life sciences, healthcare, and research organizations with specialized tools for the integration, visualization, and management of experimental data. ◆ IT Solutions for Public and Multilateral Projects

We offer comprehensive technology solutions for publicly funded programs and international development projects, with expertise in education, healthcare, digital government, and science.

Technology with a Purpose

We believe that technology should drive positive change. That's why we focus on mission-driven projects and collaborations that empower communities, promote sustainability, and advance scientific progress.
