The Company

Alkemy is the #1 skills management platform in LATAM. We've created an ecosystem for measuring and accelerating skills through artificial intelligence and scalable experiences

Problem & Solution

We are living through the 4.0 technological revolution. Companies require professionals with increasingly specific skills, and the education sector is adapting to meet this new demand. However, the needs of organizations and the skills of individuals don't always "match." As a result, companies face difficulties when it comes to:

- Finding qualified talent
- Objectively identifying the best profiles
- Training candidates in future-ready skills

Alkemy was created to democratize access to job opportunities through technology applied to skill certification and training.
